

This image is a photograph taken by Declan Hehir, Professional Photographer. It was taken specifically for the colour dust cover to our book, 'Grange Past and Present' which was published in November 2015. The focus of the image is Grange Church as seen from a long distance from Knockadoon Hill across Lough Gur, viewed through a zoom lens. Gearoid Island roughly in the centre of the lake is visible on the line of sight to the church.

An article on Grange Church, written by Mary Gallagher is to be found in book and on this website.
